

JANUARY Wolf Moon

Things needed:

Water (rain water or bottled water. Tap water can work)

A bottle or Mason Jar

A white or clear crystal. Quartz or moonstone if possible. But anything will work...just make sure it fits in the bottle or Mason jar.

Be sure to write on the jar the date of the moon water.

CIRCLE

By the lunar light of the goddess Selene, thus space is cleansed. All that is, all that was becomes purified. All that isn't fades

By the will of Heckate this space is secured. Within this circle, we shift outward and elsewhere.

By strength of the wolf, we gather between the realms. Together, we stand at our best.

Today is the moon that belongs to the wolf. The nights are cold, the skies clouded. The warmth of our homes are our caves. The moon unites us.

Wolves howl to feel united as a pack. Know this, each one of you. You are pack. You are loved. You are seen. You are heard. Selene, the goddess of the moon embraces each of us. Through her magick we are connected.

Through the goddess Heckate, we are given power. With that power comes the wisdom to wield that strength. As pack, we use that power to protect and lift up one another. As pack, we stand as unified.

EAST

As the wolf of the east leaps through the air, we are granted his wisdom of what it means to be one of a community, of pack.

Beast of the east, fill us with your inspiration.

Be here now. Be with us. Be welcome.

(Be Welcome)

SOUTH

As the wolf of the south, give us of your fire, so we may burn with passion so we know what it means for us to act with purpose.

Beast of the south, fill us with your ferocity.

Be here now. Be with us. Be welcome.

(Be Welcome)

WEST

As the wolf of the west, sustain us with your water. Show us your experience so we may know how to adapt and learn to thrive.

Beast of the west, fill us with persistence

Be here now. Be with us. Be welcome.

(Be Welcome)

NORTH

As the wolf of the north, lend us the strength of the earth. Show us your might so we may stand firm against adversity.

Beast of the North, fill us with determination.

Be here now. Be with us. Be welcome.

(Be Welcome)

GODDESS

Heckate and Selene nurture our sprits. Open our inner sight so that we may be guided according to our inner nature's and follow our guides.

Oh Great Wolf Sprit, he who walks between worlds, bring to us our ancestors and our descendants, so we may know our paths of future and past.

ACT OF POWER

Hold a small crystal (quartz or moonstone, any stone will work if needed...just make sure it fits in the final glass bottle for the moon water) and say the following:

"Elder moon mothers of space and sky Artemis and Selene, to me fly,c Come Hekate, open the silver eye!

IO IO IO!"

Pick up a bowl of water. Rain water would be best, but bottled water or tap water can work. Say the following:

"From lunar snows, to lake you flow. From lake through stream your powers grow. Streams join ocean where all things go. Come great moon magick, join and glow!"

Place the crystal in the jar or bottle. Pour the enchanted water into the jar or bottle, saying:

"Holy this be by moon-mothers three! To cleanse, to protect, to heal and to grow, this water I charge. Heckate, I invoke thee. Evoe, so mote it be"

Put the lid on the bottle, and place your hands on the top and bottom of the container. Visualize white light filling the container and then say:

"Great wild powers, now bless us. By Moon magic and powers of the earth, and strength of the sea! Holy water of rebirth Of pure waters three, by Selenes will. With moon power it grow, and with Heckates blessing this working is set."

The moon water is charged. If you are able to, leave it to rest in the moonlight until you retrieve it latter. Letting it absorb sunlight won't affect the moon water.

CAKES AND ALE

As the wolf needs nourishment so too do we as we partake of the physical food let us also partake of the spiritual nourishment this ritual brings

Bless this wine
fruit of the vine
And these cakes
we make

.May you never hunger, May you never thirst

GODDESS

To Heckate we give honor. To the mother, maiden and crone we have the right to declare an act of power. To work together and to act as a pack.

Return now with our blessing

(Thank you)

To Selene, we give respect. To the light in the darkness. She who unites us all. Because of you, we know we are not alone.

Return now with our blessing

(Thank you)

To the great wolf, we give you your due. You remind us that we are not alone. Your presence gives us courage.

Return now with our blessing

(Thank you)

To those who come before and after us, thank you for your wisdom. You have guided us on our path.

Return now with our blessing

(Thank you)

To all those in this space, thank you for being here. Go now with our love. Return to where you came, but go with our blessing.

Return now with our blessing

(Thank you)

NORTH

To the wolf of the North, of earth. Thank you for shielding us with your strength. Return to your lair with our blessing.

(Thank you)

WEST

To the wolf of the west, of Water. Thank you for showing us how to flow with grace. Return to your lair with our blessing.

(Thank you)

SOUTH

To the wolf of the south, of Fire. Thank you for giving us courage to dare. Return to your lair with our blessing.

(Thank you)

EAST

To the wolf of the east, of Air. Thank you for your keeping us inspired. Return to your lair with our blessing.

(Thank you)

CIRCLE

This circle that is, to those that are here, know that under the power of the moon, we are united, that we are pack. We are connected regardless of where we are.

This circle is no more, and yet the connection remains.

Hail and Farwell, until we meet again.

(Srena Howls)

This ritual was written by Jason Hottel, the one who is known as Fluffy. The act of power was inspired by the book Werewolf Magick by Denny Sargent
